OLSCHEWSKY — Johanna, librariam, teacher, humanitarian and friend of the disabled. died at the age of 76, on Sept. 19, 1967, in London, England. For 40 years she was rehabilitation librarian of The Institute For The Crippled and Disabled. Starting when the Institute was founded in 1917, she assembled the finest facility of its kind. A cheerful, conscientious person, she found the time to teach handicapped patients to write despite their crippled hands. She had great love for parsons who, like herself, had suffered disability, and she expressed this love by helping them find better lives through rehabilitation. Since her retirement from the Institute in 1960, she never failed to respond to a need for her, help or to atcapped. She is remembered with great affection by Trustees, Staff, and the thousands of handicapped whose lives were enriched by hers. Reposing at Walter B.
