Navy Officer Honored for Directing
Ramming of U-Boat

Lieutenant Commander William A. Sessions, of the United States Naval Reserve, received the Legion of Merit yesterday for directing the ramming of a U-Boat in the Atlantic by a destroyer escort in the face of heavy enemy fire.

The ceremony took place in the New York Navy Yard, Brooklyn, and the award was made by Rear Admiral Monroe Kelly, of the United States Navy. Lieutenant Commander Sessions, who lives at 4612 257th Street, Great Neck, L. I., has been on active duty since 1940.
